FAIL TO ACT AFTER PETITION

358 Business Men Ask Commissioners That Bond Issue be Changed So Work Can Start.

ADJOURN UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Considered Plan to Make Time to 10 Years, But Leave Interest at 4½ Per Cent.

Despite the pleadings of three hundred and fifty-eight tax payers of Rushville township, the county commissioners at a late hour this afternoon had deferred any action on the changing of the bond issue to pay for the improvement of Main and Second streets. At three o'clock a member of the board said that they would probably hold another meeting this afternoon, but that they would not arrive at a definite conclusion on the bond question. They expected to adjourn until the middle of next week, when they will probably take some action.

The board considered this afternoon a partial change, but not all that the business men petitioned for. They planned to change the issue to run from one to ten years, but to leave the interest at four and one-half per cent. This was discussed from all angles by the members of the board and the county officials. Alvan Moor, county treasurer, consented to go to Indianapolis Monday morning and attempt to sell the bonds, one to ten years at four and one-half per cent. They had not definitely decided to do that at a late hour this afternoon.

Promptly at ten-thirty o'clock this morning about one hundred business and professional men gathered in the county commissioners' office to petition the board to change the bond issue from four and one-half per cent, one to twenty years, to five per cent, one to ten years. The four petitions which were circulated by the committee from the Retail Merchants' Association yesterday afternoon, containing a total of 358 names, all taxpayers of Rushville township, were presented to the board in a speech by James E. Watson.

"In view of the fact that these bonds can not be sold at four and one-half per cent," said Mr. Watson,

"the representative business interests, 358 in number, have petitioned this board to change the issue to five per cent, one to ten years, so that they can be sold and the improvement can be made. By your action, you can not only cause this paving to be started immediately, so that the two streets will be passable, but you will save the taxpayers approximately $22,500, which they will have to pay out in interest if the bonds are allowed to lay idle here."

Mr. Watson brought out the fact that the present bond issue, which he has learned after careful study could not be sold in less than one year and possibly eighteen months, although a member of the board said that he had been informed that they could be disposed of next spring. Mr. Watson said that he had been told by experienced bond men that that was not the case.

He said that if the commissioners were depending on the law to be repealed, it was useless, because that would not change the validity of the bond since they had been issued. Mr. Watson said that the commissioners should take their time in reaching a decision and put the question directly to them as to whether or not they were satisfied that the issue could be sold at four and one-half. One of the commissioners replied "After a little." Mr. Watson explained that was just the point in question. So long as the bonds lay here, interest must be paid on them sooner or later by the taxpayers.

The chief objection of one member of the board in changing the issue seemed to be the fact that the change in time of ten years would pinch the small property owner. He said that the small taxpayer or in reality the poor man would be compelled to pay more each year and it would be working a hardship on him. Yet this afternoon the commissioners were considering a change of time to ten years, but not a change in the rate of interest.

The fact that Main and Second streets are almost impassable after a small rain was one of the arguments used before the board. Ex-Mayor Harvey Cowing said that it would cost $2500 to repair the two streets, after they had been torn up to make the connections.

SEVERE WIND STORM.

A severe rain and wind storm, with some hail, passed over this city at noon. It was a local rain and failed to touch only a small portion of the county. In portions it played some damage with uncut wheat and growing corn.

THE WEATHER.

Thunderstorms tonight or Sunday. Cooler in extreme north portion.

WILL MAKE RACE BALLOONIST DOES MORE INTENSE SOME "AVIATING"

James M. Brown of Shelbyville is a Candidate for Democratic Nomination For Prosecutor.

FORMERLY LIVED IN RUSH

Three Aspirants For the Place, One From Here—Political Gossip

is Rife.

Democratic politics in the Sixteenth judicial district, comprised of Rush and Shelby counties, is smoldering, even almost to the boiling point, especially since the lieutenant who was left to fill the office of the prosecuting attorney, while said official was off on a journey, has made public his intention of becoming a candidate against his chief in the coming convention, making a total of three candidates for the nomination. According to Shelbyville papers, James Brown, an attorney of Shelbyville, but formerly of this county, has announced his candidacy for prosecutor of the district. He has had charge of the office while John C. Cheney has been away on a trip. Cheney is seeking a second term, while Dennis O'Neil of this city is also a candidate for the nomination.

Politicians are surmising just what will be the outcome of the race for the various offices which are to be meted out by the Democrats of the judicial district. Rushville claims one of the offices, which she should rightly have, while it seems that Shelby will make an attempt to take them all. John C. Cheney of Shelby county, present prosecuting attorney, would have another term and that has always been the custom. Alonzo Blair, an attorney of Shelbyville, is a candidate for the judgeship, he being the one left since Albert F. Wray, also of Shelbyville, who was a candidate, has been elected to fill a vacancy on the board of education in Shelby county.

Rush county has no candidate for judge, but has one for the prosecutor's job. They are determined that they shall have a slice out of the fresh meat and will not stand for any secondary position like deputy prosecutor. Dennis O'Neil can probably carry the Rush county delegation of thirteen votes, but the Shelby county

BALLOONIST DOES SOME "AVIATING"

Ray Laboyteaux, a Former Local Printer, is Defendant in Divorce Suit in New Castle.

POLICE ARE CALLED TO HOME

Charges That Husband Struck Her With Wooden Coat Hanger and Bruised Her With Fists.

Ray Laboyteaux, printer and "aviator," of New Castle will be remembered as the printer who worked here for a number of years. He has had trouble with his wife and the result is a divorce suit. The New Castle Times says

There was some excitement on Thursday afternoon on Broad street, just west of 12th street, when the air was filled with screams, imprecations and angry voices. Officers Burr and Mogul were called to investigate and found a family row in progress between Ray Laboyteaux and his wife, who occupy rooms in the Ellis building over the barber shop.

Both parties appeared the worse for the encounter, with hair tumbled and various scratches on hands and faces. Each accused the other of being the aggressor, and when the officers asked Mrs. Laboyteaux if she would file an affidavit she refused, but said she would bring suit for divorce.

These little affairs are nothing new between the parties, but have been of frequent happening for three years, but have seldom resulted in any bodily injury.

Mr. Laboyteaux is a printer, balloonist and vaudeville manager. Thursday he worked as a printer and told his employer he would be on the job steady until the Middletown fair. However, circumstances alter cases, and he must have changed his mind between sunset and sunrise for Friday morning all that could be found of him was a note regarding some work under way and saying "Am called away. * * * Will let you hear from me."

As the result Violet Laboyteaux vs. Ray Laboyteaux is the title of a divorce suit filed in the circuit court Friday. Mrs. Laboyteaux charges her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment and failure to provide.

The complaint says that Laboy-teaux struck his wife with a wooden coat hanger, and bruised her with his fists. At the time of the assaults the complaint says Laboyteaux was so enraged that he broke up many pieces of furniture that the couple had in use.

CHOOSE DELEGATES FOR CONVENTION

Democrats of Township Met Last Night And Selected Judicial and County Representatives.

OTHERS HELD MEETING TODAY

The Democrats of Rushville township met in the Hendrix club rooms last night and selected delegates and alternates to the county convention, which will be held here the fourth of next month, delegates and alternates to the Sixteenth judicial convention, composed of Rush and Shelby counties and also nominated an advisory board. Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall and Mark Purcell were selected as delegates to the judicial convention. J. C. Clore, John O. Hill and Barney Schrichte were named as an advisory board and sixty-nine delegates and alternates were chosen for the county convention.

Both parties appeared the worse for the encounter, with hair tumbled and various scratches on hands and faces. Each accused the other of being the aggressor, and when the officers asked Mrs. Laboyteaux if she would file an affidavit she refused, but said she would bring suit for divorce.

WALKS IN SLEEP; FALLS OFF PORCH

James Andrews, Civil War Veteran, of Gwynneville, Suffers Broken Collar Bone.

JAW BONE WAS BADLY BRUISED

May be Internally Injured but Physicians Will Not State Definitely

—61 Years Old.

While walking in his sleep last night, James Andrews, a civil war veteran of Gwynneville, fell off the porch and suffered serious and painful injuries. His collar bone was broken, one jaw bone was badly bruised and cut and it is feared that he is internally injured. The attending physician refused to give his opinion as to the extent of his internal injuries as he is as yet unable to determine them exactly. Due to Mr. Andrew's old age and the seriousness of his injuries, there may be some doubt as to his recovery.

Mr. Andrews, it is said, is subject to walking in his sleep. Last night he arose from his bed and started out doors. He opened the door carefully, without awakening any other member of the household and walked on to the front porch. But he had not gone far before he was lying on the ground near the porch where he had fallen. The severe jar from the fall of several feet awakened him and he called for help. The other members of the family assisted him into the house and a physician was called.

The examination of his body proved that he was very seriously injured, but the physician refused to state definitely just how the accident might terminate. Mr. Andrews is about sixty years old and he will naturally be confined to the house several weeks, even if he is not internally injured.

The porch at the Andrews home is high and for that reason the results of the fall were more serious. It is estimated that the fall was not over two feet but the fact that Mr. Andrews was asleep and not prepared to protect himself in the downward plunge, made it very dangerous.

Salt works employees are said to be immune from cholera and scarlet fever.

LARGE SHIPMENT OF SHEEP

U. G. Beaver Ships 1146 Head to Buffalo, N. Y.

One of the largest shipment of sheep, if not the largest, ever made from this county was made this morning by U. G. Beaver. Mr. Beaver put 1146 sheep in cars to be transported to Buffalo, N. Y. He has been working for several weeks collecting and buying the flock.

OLDEST AUTO DRIVER.

Abraham Bowen, who purchased an automobile a short time ago, has the distinction of being the oldest driver of a machine in the county. At the age of 81 years, Mr. Bowen is learning the art of chauffeuring.

Generations of Boys Have Played on Iron Pole

Did you ever stop to think what the destruction of the old Mauzy building at the corner of Main and Second streets means to the kids? Did you ever consider for a moment just how much pleasure a youngster could derive from running and sliding around that iron pole under the stairway in Main street? Did you ever know how many grains of enjoyment the boys—and girls as well—got out of the sensation of sliding down that iron pole after having trudged up the long stairway. Think that over.

The kids stand back now and look longingly at the old building which used to be their playground. If they get too close to the workmen they are gruffly ordered back by the boss who feared that some of the little ones will be injured. But nevertheless they will watch wistfully as the old building gradually disappears to make way for the new one and in the meantime they will derive some pleasure in thoughts of the yesterday, when they could join the throng of merry youngsters on the corner and all go in for a slide down the slick pole.

But sliding was not the only pleasure that was to be found around that old, aged, worn and decrepit pole. Young athletes grabbed the pole in their youthful grasp and held their muscular bodies out horizontally to show their almost superhuman strength. This is not all of the Herculean stunts which the young giants pulled off as few boys, there were, who did not have a new trick to perform on it every evening after school.

It was then that the corner of Main and Second streets was turned into a veritable gymnasium. The school kids, large and small, young and old, would gather around the old proverbial iron pole and watch the feats of their playmates ever anxious to get a chance at it so that they could display their ability to perform on the slick thing. The youngsters would do almost every imaginable feat, everyone ingenious and skillful. The crowd at the corner some evenings after school would almost congest the traffic, especially in the fall of the year when the evenings were chilly and the youngsters were full of mischief and always alert.

It was not always the kids who performed the stunts before the crowd after school. Even the high school pupils broke into the game occasionally and displayed their taste for gymnastics. In any case few evenings passed during the school year that any mother who was looking for her boy or girl that had strayed away from home, might go there first to find them. They were always gathered there in fair or stormy weather either to be the center of attraction or to watch the evening's performance. The iron pole was as much a factor in the ordinary schoolboy's daily life as were the rules and regulations laid down by their instructors in the school room.

So they will regret to see it go. They will long for a playground from which they get so much pleasure in the future as they pass on their way to and from school. But the school kid must take up some new sport and make way for improvements for the old iron pole can not exist forever.

But wait a moment. The old iron pole made its final appearance on the streets of Rushville today. But consider the pole and its breadth. It was an inch and a quarter in diameter when the workmen wrenched it from its position which it had held for nearly a century. It was larger than that when it was first put in place. Yes it has been worn away by the continually sliding, sliding for almost a century. It was probably an inch and a half in diameter when it was first put up to hold the stairway which has enabled thousands of people to reach the second floor of the Mauzy building. And that other one-quarter of an inch, what has become of it? It has disappeared particle by particle, more slowly than the years have slipped by.

But there was a time when the youngster of the present generation in Rushville did not exist and their fathers and grandfathers were the boys then. What of them? In all probability they used the same means to have fun as the present generation school boy. It's an old adage that boys are boys and it was never truer than to say that boys were always boys. They were boys back in the civil war times just as they are boys today.

Then it is highly probable that they, too, slid down that very same pole which has been playground for the youngsters of the present generation. They too, enjoyed the same pleasures and got them in the same manner. Perhaps it is safe to say that some of our forefathers slid down that same pole and helped to wear off that quarter-inch of iron. There are living in the city some old men who can recall when they slid down that stationary piece of iron and enjoyed it as highly as the boys of today have done. Perhaps the president of some bank, the owner of some store, the manufacturer in Rushville, who would now smile at the recollections of such a feat, have cavorted down that very pole and have found it a very pleasing sensation. They may even have had some new stunts, although in years past they were commonly called "behind the times," which the youngsters of today have not been ingenious enough to plan.

Anyway they slid down that pole, thousands of them, perhaps your father or your grandfather and he should not have scolded you for the same trick. But the pole has done its duty to the passing generation. It has served its time and must be consigned to the iron pile, where it will rust away into oblivion and be forgotten. It may be forgotten, but the pleasure and the fun which it has afforded the youngsters for the past century, that will never be forgotten. The school boy of today, he will never fail to have the recollections of the many happy hours spent on the old iron pole, the center of attraction for youngsters for ages past.

ACTIVE FIGURE ON THE STUMP

Politicians Plan Full Program for the Colonel.

CAN'T WELL GET OUT OF IT

Roosevelt's Acceptance of Invitations to Take the Stump in Indiana and Massachusetts Politicians Say Will Force Him to Extend His Activities to Other States Whence Macedonian Cries Are Arising.

Washington, July 9.—Politicians here think that Colonel Roosevelt will be an active figure on the stump in the coming congressional campaign. He has already made two engagements, one to speak in Massachusetts in behalf of Senator Lodge, and the other to speak in Indiana in the interest of Senator Beveridge. A third public appearance is in prospect. If the Ohio Republicans nominate either Son-in-Law Longworth or James R. Garfield as their gubernatorial candidate, Mr. Roosevelt probably will be persuaded to make a speech or two in that state. Up in the northwest there is a demand that he speak in behalf of a number of candidates and politicians in Washington say he will not be able to refuse, now that he has accepted invitations from Massachusetts and Indiana. Once Roosevelt gets mixed up he will take a swing around the circuit, touching states where he has friends who are candidates for congress. Roosevelt is scheduled to deliver an address at the St. Paul conservation congress. While it is his purpose to confine his remarks on that occasion to the question under consideration, an effort will be made to have him touch on politics.

It has become known here that J. R. Garfield still has hopes of landing the gubernatorial nomination in Ohio. He has in his possession a letter written to him by Mr. Taft, assuring him of support if he is the choice of the Ohio convention. It is needless to say that this letter was written a long time before Garfield was projected into the Taft "In Bad Club" by reason of the open support of the Pinchot side of the Ballinger-Pinchot trouble. There is a prospect that the Taft letter to Mr. Garfield may be made public at the proper time.

WORK OF A MOB

Anti-Saloon League Detective Lynched For Killing Saloon Keeper.

Newark, O., July 9.—Following the death of William Howard, a saloon keeper and former city policeman, from a bullet wound inflicted by one of ten detectives in the employment of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, during attacks on saloons by the detectives, a mob of 500 men last night attacked the Licking county jail, seized Charles Etherington of Harrodsburg, Ky., a white man, and hanged him to a telephone pole in the courthouse square. Sheriff Lincke tried to forestall them. Two iron doors barred the progress of the mob, but they made their way through them.

The bullet wound that caused Howard's death was said by the police to have been inflicted by Etherington, one of the detectives. He was pursued by a crowd and captured. Officers rescued him and landed him in jail, pursued by a mob.

Etherington's last moments, while he heard the mob battering down the doors, were spent in prayer and writing a note to his parents, farmers, residing near Willisburg, Ky.

"What will mother say when she hears of this?" he kept moaning to the jailer. In an attempt to commit suicide Etherington smothered his head in his coat and set fire to it. He was caught in time. In the melee as the mob was leaving the jail eight prisoners held for petty offenses, escaped. One refused to leave.

Howard, it is said, did not resist the detectives when they entered his place. He is said to have put his arms about Etherington as if to hold him, whereupon the officer fired a bullet into Howard's head. Striking B. & O. railway employees declare Etherington recently came to Newark as a strike breaker, and the ill-feeling growing out of the strike intensified that due to the slaying. No member of the mob was masked, and no attempt was made to conceal their identity. The leaders were personal friends of the dead man.

GULLEY, SELF-MADE, LEADS AS A LAWYER

Otis E. Gulley, for Secretary of State.

Positive force, character and whirlwind energy mark Otis E. Gulley. He is well set up, keen, and is a scrupulous person when it comes to a political or legal struggle. He is an organizer, and is showing that ability in his canvass for secretary of state on the Republican ticket. He has shown genius for organization and leadership in the Sons of Veterans. He worked hard as a boy and helped his father buy farm tools and horses. He worked hard as a school teacher and ran a newspaper in conjunction. He rose rapidly in the law, and won fame in the prosecution of the famous Hinshaw murder case. He has been practicing law at Danville since 1891, and is widely known as a brilliant orator.

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS

Virley Rudd, of Plainfield, has taken a desk as securities clerk in the office of the auditor of state.

F. C. Green, of New Albany, has been appointed to a place in the United States geological survey.

George L. Hoffman, of Indianapolis, has been made a clerk in the department of Agriculture, at Washington.

John F. Landis, son of former Congressman C. B. Landis, is now a second lieutenant in the United States army, having graduated from West Point.

Congressman Barnhart, Democrat, of the Thirteenth district, will take a rest. He is still suffering from the effects of a collapse due to the Washington heat.

C. L. Jewett, prominent Democratic leader in Indiana, is boomerang Theodore Roosevelt for high place in the National Civic Federation. Jewett recognizes Roosevelt's ability.

If Theodore Roosevelt can be induced to speak in the 1910 campaign, he will find the Republican party in congress has given him some monumental legislation to which he can point with just pride.

E. E. Neal, of Noblesville, has started on an active campaign in the Ninth district, to wrest the congressional seat from Marty Morrison, of Frankfort. Mr. Neal has just returned from Washington, where he called on President Taft.

President Taft has a right to feel mighty good over the work done by congress. His program was carried out in a most gratifying way. Some of those citizens and editors who have been too quick to criticize the Taft method have a thoughtful spell coming to them.

The Terre Haute Tribune, Crawford Fairbank's newspaper, gives Tom Taggart full credit for forcing John W. Kern to lick the patent leather pumps of Senator Shively. Probably Mr. Fairbanks of Terre Haute is right about it. Mr. Fairbanks was at French Lick when the Kern penance was performed.

It is given out that the Democratic state oil inspector will be picked from the Twelfth district. Steve Fleming, Democratic boss, and right hand man to Governor Marshall, will say who is to be the lucky man. Other districts are wondering when the governor will cease confining himself to the Twelfth district and to the dictation of Steve Fleming in placing the state jobs.

TAFT IN ACTION.

President Taft has shown that he can wield the "big stick" with Rooseveltian vigor. He compelled the recalcitrant house to accept the senate amendments to the appropriations bill and then forced the filibustering senate to adopt the house postal savings bank bill. By the way, there is not so much howling about the "big stick" as there was a few years ago. Public sentiment is behind it, and members of both houses of congress recognize its necessity.—South Bend Times. (Dem.)

READY TO PUSH GRAFT INQUIRY

New York Legislative Committee Has Organized.

WILL SPARE NO GUILTY MAN

Members of the Committee insist that Inquiry Will Reach Back Through Whole Field of Political Corruption and That There Will Be No Whitewashing or Covering Up of the Facts as They Shall Develop.

New York, July 9.—The legislature's graft investigation committee, which was appointed as a result of the Allds scandal to show up the activities of state senators and assemblymen who have used their official positions to fatten their bank accounts, has organized. Assemblyman Merritt was named as chairman. The committee is officered by regulars of the Republican party. Assemblyman Merritt is the leader of the majority in the lower house. Walter Moses, the secretary, is clerk to Speaker Wadsworth. The committee adjourned till July 26.

The members want to enjoy a vacation before taking up a job which is expected to run steadily until Jan. 1, 1911. When the committee get down to work testimony in the Allds case will be taken up first. A good many interesting facts concerning the pipe line of former legislators into Wall street cropped up while Jotham P. Allds was on the griddle, but since they had no direct connection with Senator Allds' misconduct, the senate took no cognizance of them. The graft investigation committee, which was wrung from senate and house by Governor Hughes's insistence, has power to probe all shady transactions, no matter how far back. In the investigation of fire insurance companies and methods conducted by William H. Hotchkiss, state superintendent of insurance, Mr. Hotchkiss's powers were limited. He could not subpoena papers or corporation records. In that investigation it was made apparent that assemblymen and senators had enjoyed certain stock-brokering favors. The legislature's committee will take up the Hotchkiss testimony after working through the Allds data.

Members of the committee insist that the inquiry will reach back through the whole field of political corruption, and that there will be no whitewashing or covering up.

SOLDIERS THWARTED

They Wanted to Lynch Negro, but Were Forestalled by Police.

Washington, July 9.—A band of forty or fifty, made up largely, if not entirely, of United States troops and artillerymen from Fort Myer, marched upon the Alexandria county jail, just across the Potomac from Washington, with design to lynch Robert Jackson, a negro, who had slashed one of the soldiers stationed at the fort, with a razor, in a quarrel over the Reno fight. The jailer had got wind of probable trouble, however, and had removed the negro to the Fairfax county jail, thus thwarting the design of the soldiers.

Grindelwald, Switzerland, July 9.—An avalanche overwhelmed two parties of Alpineists near the Bergli hut. Seven, including three guides, were rescued. They are seriously hurt. Five others cannot be found, and they were doubtless killed.

J. P. ALLDS

Disgraced New York Senator
Whose Acts Led to Inquiry.

SO MANY THINGS OF MORE IMPORTANCE

Far Too Much Attention Paid to Prize Fighting.

Toledo, July 9.—That the American people are unduly excited about the victory of Jack Johnson over James Jeffries, was the opinion expressed by Mayor Whitlock in addressing the national convention of flint glass workers.

"For months papers, periodicals and magazines have been filled with intimate personal accounts of both fighters, giving, as if it were of the utmost importance to humanity, the thoughts and opinions of defeated former pugilists. In addition to this even the literary magazines succumbed and we have had psychological studies of the bruisers. And now we experience a rerudescence of Anglo-Saxon morality and suddenly wake up to the fact that all this is brutal and likely to corrupt somebody."

"Meanwhile in the tenements and slums of New York yearly children are dying—half of all the children in these districts die before they reach the age of six. Furthermore, last year, by the industrial machines of the country, half a million men were killed or maimed. Most of these lives might have been saved by the improvement of working conditions, by the enactment and observance of safety appliance acts; they or their families might have been paid in a measure by the passage of employers' liability acts or by the repeal of many ancient and unjust laws."

"But as to these immense and appalling brutalities, the nation is dumb; to oppose this kind of brutality involves an economic risk—it might hurt business, it might cost men their soft positions. Since the fight ended it has suddenly been discovered that some question of race superiority was involved in it.

"That question is not involved and it can't be settled that way, anyhow. For instance, I have no doubt that Jeffries, even in his battered and bruised condition, could whip Booker T. Washington, or that Johnson could whip Tolstoi, whenever he wanted to. Perhaps he could whip Colonel Roosevelt and others of the leading representatives of our race."

"But even if he could and did, nobody would say that demonstrated the superiority of one race over the other.

"The only peoples in the world which are interested in prize fighting are the British and the American, and after revelling in the dreams of anticipated brutality for months, the change in feeling they display is sickening.

Bloomington, Ind., July 9.—Myrtle Grubbs, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Samuel Grubbs, was fatally wounded when she was accidentally shot by her older sister Hattie. The bullet struck the girl above the left eye. Physicians say she cannot recover.

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

At last the cause of the high cost of living has been discovered. The Republican majority of the Lodge committee of inquiry has discovered it. So has the Democratic minority. Mental Attitude Success is in the blood, says Elbert Hubbard.

There are men whom Fate can never keep down—they march jauntily forward, and take by divine right the best of everything that earth affords.

But success is not attained by the Samuel Smiles policy. They do not lie in wait, nor scheme, nor fawn, nor seek to adapt their sails to catch the breezes of popular favor. Still, they are ever alert and alive to any good that may come their way, and when it comes they simply appropriate it, and, tarrying not, move steadily on.

Good health! When you go out of doors draw the chin in, carry the crown of the head high, and fill the lungs to the utmost; great your friends with a smile, and put soul in every hand-clasp.

Do not fear being misunderstood; and never waste a minute thinking about your enemies.

Try to fix firmly in your own mind what you would like to do, and then without violence of direction you will move straight to the goal.

Fear is the rock on which we split, and hate is the shoal on which many bark is stranded.

When we are fearful, the judgment is as unreliable as the compass of a ship whose hold is full of iron ore; when we hate, we have unshipped the rudder; and if we stop to meditate on what the gossips say, we have allowed a hawser to foul the screw.

Keep your mind on the great and splendid things you would like to do; and then, as the days go gliding by, you will find yourself unconsciously seizing upon the opportunities that are prepared for the fulfillment of your desire, just as the coral insect takes from the running tide the elements that it needs.

Picture in your mind the able, earnest, useful person you desire to be, and the thought you hold is hourly transforming you into that particular individual.

Thought is supreme, and to think is often better than to do.

Preserve a right mental attitude—that of courage, frankness and good cheer.

The only way to get friends is to be one.

All success consists in this; You are doing something for somebody—benefiting humanity—and the feeling of success comes from the consciousness of this.

Interest a person in useful work and you are transforming Chaos into Cosmos.

Blessed is that man who has found his work.

Fear less, hope more; eat less, breathe more; hate less, and love more—and all good things are yours.

Plays Unusual Instrument

Many a boy has pulled a blade of grass, bit off the ends evenly, placed the blades between the ends and fleshy parts of his thumbs and then blown his breath sharply on the exposed edge. As most men who used to be boys know, this blowing process produced a screeching noise that was most agreeable to the ear of he who made it. As to the effect it had on the ears of others, that was another matter.

Now, the making of the aforesaid screeching noise is an easy thing to do, providing one has the thumbs and the blade of grass, but at Hope there is a man who not only makes the noise, but he plays a tune as well.

The virtuoso on a grass blade is none other than Stearns Davis. Seated in a shady nook on the public square at Hope, he plays a lilting tune on his blade of grass. No sooner is one blade split than he plucks another and blows another tune. It's something wonderful, so those who have heard his grass made music say, and it leads to speculation in a large way.

If Stearns Davis can play a ditty on a blade of bluegrass or timothy hay, think what he might do if he increased the scope of his operations. He might play an entire selection from a comic opera on a mullein leaf, a calce caprice on an oak leaf, an intermezzo on a leaf from a slippery elm tree, and there is no telling how good he could perform the famous "Maple Leaf Rag" on a leaf from a Norway maple. And going still further, it is only reasonable to suppose that Davis could arm himself with a leaf from the "Elephant's Ear" plants with which people decorate their lawns and play any overture ever written. "Poet and Peasant" or the "Barber of Seville" on an Elephant's Ear leaf would certainly be sublime.

Roosevelt's speech in behalf of standpatter Lodge in Massachusetts and insurgent Beveridge in Indiana, will make interesting reading.

The Richmond Item wants it understood that Roosevelt's speech in Indiana will not be delivered at the Richmond grand home-coming and pumpkin show.

Big headlines in the insurgent papers announce that Roosevelt has espoused the cause of insurgency and that he will speak in Indiana in support of Beveridge. The fact is Mr. Roosevelt, when he speaks in Indiana, will support the Republican party, of which Mr. Beveridge is the regular and only candidate. Mr. Roosevelt does not take sides with either faction, and in States where both factions have candidates, he refuses to enter the campaign.

One of the objections to dredging rivers was that the dirt would be thrown out on the banks and would remain there. This is fully borne out by the experience in Jay and Blackford counties. In the upper part of Salmonie river, where dredging was first begun, it is hard to tell that any work has been done and the dirt which was thrown up on the banks has nearly all been washed back into the bed of the stream and much complaint is made by adjoining property owners.

It is quite noticeable that the portion of the party press which has attempted to be insurgent the past year, has changed its attitude. They are all praising President Taft now. They finally seem to find in him the qualities of a genuine constructive statesman. They are even willing to admit that it was the president aided by all of the leaders of the party, who is responsible for the excellent record made by congress in the present session. These papers are now seeking to cover up a breach which was of their own making. Had it not been for newspapers like the Indianapolis Republican press, with its continuous cry of "insurgent" and "standpatter" and "predatory wealth" there would have been no need for backing up. The reform legislation would have passed just the same—for the reason that it was promised in the Republican platform, and was desired by the president. And there would have been no rift in the late.

The Divorce Evil.

Judge Sparks is to be commended for refusing to grant divorces to married people who rush into his court on slight pretexts to obtain legal separation, says the Shelbyville Republican.

The divorce evil is attracting the attention of the press, the clergy and the courts all over the land, and concerted action on the part of these agents for the suppression of the disease, is about the only remedy that will put a stop to it.

The number of misfit marriages has long been a source of anxiety to those familiar with court proceedings and the minister who is shrewd to discern the temperament and disposition of many who apply for his services in entering in upon a contract that is too often but lightly considered.

The evil is not confined to any class or nation. Neither is it a condition of age, creed or sect. It attacks the beardless youth and the aged with equal vigor and persistence. And the sequel to too many trivial quarrels between husbands and wives is bared in the courts all over the land.

Various remedies have been suggested, but so far none have proven wholly adequate. A few years ago the legislature took cognizance of the growth of the tendency and enacted a law giving judges power to prevent the re-marriage of divorcees within a period of two years from the date of the granting of the decrees, but even that measure was ineffectual, and many utterly ignored the action of the courts.

The lawyer or laymen who shall hit upon a plan to eradicate the evil will be hailed as a public benefactor, but until such a Moses shall appear the children of men will continue to "fuss" and take their doll rags home to Dad.

The South Kensington Museum

Representing Art, Science, Relics, Mechanics, etc.

Letter of Travel by William R. Jinnett, of Manilla

We visited the South Kensington Museum. There is a wealth of art, science, relics and machinery here, beyond the dreams of avarice. The Museum contains one of the statuettes by Michael Angelo. It is known by the name of "Cupid" and was rescued from a cellar in the city of Florence, Italy, where it had been stored away for two hundred years. There is a collection of furniture, paneling and musical instruments noted for their age and perfection. Here is displayed a writing desk and table which belonged to Queen Marie Antoinette. Among the musical instruments we noticed Handel's harpsichord. There are many examples of carved ivory, one of the oldest of human arts. These date from 900 B. C. There are many rich tapestries, lace and needle work. The cartoons of Raphael are also displayed, representing Christ's Charge to Peter, The Death of Annias, Peter and John Healing the Lame Man, Paul and Barnabas at Lystra, Elymas the Sorcerer Struck Blind, Paul Preaching at Athens, and the Miraculous Draught of Fishes.

While in the presence of the famous works I was reminded of the words of Steele:

"As I now sit and recollect the warm images which the admirable Raphael has raised, it is impossible even from the faint traces in one's memory to be unmoved at the honour and reverence which appear in the whole assembly when the mercenary man fell down dead or at the graceless indignation of the sorcerer when he is struck blind. The lame when they first find strength in their feet, stand doubtful of their new vigour. The heavenly apostles appear, acting these things, great with a great sense of the infirmities which they relieve, but no value of themselves who administer to their weaknesses. They know themselves to be but instruments, and the generous distress they are painted in when divine honours are offered to them, it is a representation in the most exquisite degree of the beauty of holiness. When St. Paul is preaching to the Athenians with that wonderful art are almost all the different tempers of mankind represented in that elegant audience. You see one credulous of all that is said; another wrapt up in a deep suspense; another saying, there is some reason in what he says; another angry that the apostle destroys a favorite opinion which he is unwilling to give up; another wholly convinced and holding out his hands in rapture; while the generality attend and wait for the opinion of those who are of leading characters in the assembly. I will not pretend so much as to mention that chart on which is drawn the appearance of our blessed Lord after his resurrection. Present authority, late sufferings, humility, and majesty, despotic command and divine love are at once seated in his celestial aspect. The figures of the eleven apostles are all in the same passion of admiration, but discover it differently according to their character. Peter receives his Master's orders on his knees with an admiration mixed with a more pesular attention; the two next with a more open ecstasy, though still constrained by an awe of divine presence. The beloved disciple, whom I take to be the right of the two figures, has in his countenance wonder drowned in love; and the last personage, whose back is toward the spectator, and his side towards the presence, one would fancy to be St. Thomas, as abashed by the conscience of his former diffidence; which perplexed concern it is possible Raphael thought too hard a task to draw, but by this acknowledgment of the difficulty to describe it."

There is a beautiful collection of oil paintings by modern British artists. Among the authors represented are: Lessley, Wilkie, Turner, Mulready, and Constable. There is also a collection of English water colors. There is quite a collection of machinery models, among which we noticed an early wooden sewing machine; the printing press used by Benjamin Franklin; the engine of Bell's Comet, the first steamboat that ever plied on European waters; Stevenson's first locomotive; the first locomotive ever constructed; the original reaping machine and Watt's steam engine.

There is a science collection of interest only to students of science. The Geological collection with its library is complete in every respect.

There is also a collection from England's possessions in India. The collection consists of statuary, gods, earings, pottery, arms, jewelery and bronzes.

There is a museum of natural history connected with the institution in which are displayed specimens of mammal life, minerals and floral of many lands. A detailed statement of other attractions would be of little interest to the general reader. We therefore close our letter at this point for the time being.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace management will offer a good program for its Saturday night patrons in the Edison film, "The Judgment of the Mighty Deep." The picture is filled with the salt air of the ocean and abounds in strong dramatic situations enacted by actors of sterling worth—situations strong, powerful and intense as the mighty ocean, which is the background of the entire picture which leads to it a terrible impressiveness. Miss Iva Brown will sing a new illustrated song.

The Star Grand offers two subjects tonight, the first, "The Gum Shoe Kid," a comedy in which a pair of dishonest servants are captured by a "Minature Detective." The second subject is "A Trip Through Brazil," giving a glimpse of the Straits of Gibraltar on the way, the curious and interesting breakers along the Brazilian coast, and the curious ways of disembarking passengers in large baskets at Pernambuco. Besides Pernambuco, the cities of Bahia, Rio Janeiro and others are shown. "Mother" is the title of the illustrated song.

The Vaudet will show the big Imp feature film, "Ae of Hearts" tonight. It is a drama of much merit and is said to depict a story replete with rich dramatic action. Next Monday and Tuesday evening the Vaudet will have an extra bill in the four thousand foot film, "Custer's Last Stand." It is advertised as the most pretentious picture ever conceived and was made on the spot where the massacre took place. A new illustrated song is on the program tonight.

"I LOVE YOU."

"I Love You" is the title of the Daily Republican's song feature this week. It will be found on page three of today's issue. The song was featured by Kitty Gordon in "The Girl and the Wizard" last year and is said to be the song hit of the show. The words and music are tuneful and the song promises to be a big hit as soon as it is more generally known.

WITH GLAD ACCLAIM

Indiana Republicans Receive the News of Roosevelt's Coming.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, July 9.—The joy with which Indiana Republicans receive the news that Col. Theodore Roosevelt is to speak in Indiana for the Republican ticket this year, serves to emphasize the Democratic situation with reference to W. J. Bryan and his exclusion from Indiana's border by the edict of Tom Taggart. Mr. Bryan, being John W. Kern's running mate in a certain presidential handicap of recent memory, feels kindly toward Mr. Kern.

The latter being put up for United States senator, Mr. Bryan naturally offered to come into the state and boost.

Mr. Kern was glad to have Bryan do so. But Tom Taggart and the other bosses who control the organization, who wrote the platform, and other things, having put in the platform some things Bryan denounces most bitterly, have found it inexpedient to play up Mr. Bryan this year in the Indiana campaign. The peerless leader is barred out, and that is all there is to it.

In addition to the main body of delegates and representatives, attendance to the convention was swelled today by hundreds of Elks from out of Indiana and from lodges in the state not members of the reunion association.

Trains containing delegates from the western states to the national Elks' convention, to be held at Detroit, July 17, were stopped in the city today through a novel arrangement of the local transportation committee of the local lodge.

BOOMING HIMSELF

Designs on Seat in White House An-nounced by Illinois Lawyer.

Princeton, Ind., July 9.—The first formal announcement for the presidential race of 1912 has been made by F. P. Walts, an attorney of Billett, Ill., in the Democrat, a paper published here. The announcement, which is self-explanatory, follows:

"F. P. Walts, attorney-at-law, in the states of Kentucky and Indiana, now residing in Billett, Lawrence county, Illinois, announces to the voters of the United States of America his candidacy for the nomination to the office of president of the United States at a convention and meeting of a new political party hereafter to be organized; the vote of the aforesaid meeting and convention to be decided upon and announced at a reasonable time prior to the election of president in the fall of 1912."

"The aforesaid party is hereby given the title of the 'Common People's Common Sense Party.'

"Dated July 4, 1910, at Princeton, Ind. (By) F. P. WALTS."

Walts is well known as an attorney and is enthusiastic over the needs for a new party. During the next two years he will travel over the country lecturing in its interests, he says.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Walter Preston Brownlow, distinguished southern congressman, is dead at Johnson City, Tenn.

The maharaja Guekwar of Baroda, a semi-independent principality in the west of India, is making a visit to America.

Judge O. N. Heaton, of Fort Wayne, Republican candidate for congress in the Twelfth district, is making the rounds of the counties of his district. Elmer Leonard, of Fort Wayne, who was at Columbia City in company with Judge Heaton a day or two ago, says:

"Wherever Judge Heaton has gone he has found the greatest enthusiasm over his acceptance of the Republican nomination for congress. It is all very pleasing to Judge Heaton, and speaks well for the political prospect, which seems to be most encouraging for Republicans. Judge Heaton has called on many leading Republicans in various cities, and has been assured that there is genuine satisfaction among the people because of the presence on the ticket of so able and distinguished a candidate."

Congressman E. D. Crumpacker, according to recent interview, expects to see Indiana elect five additional Republican congressmen. He believes the next congress will be Republican by a substantial majority. He says: "The congress just adjourned has accomplished more by carrying out the promises of the Republican platform than any congress in the past quarter of a century. President Taft has demonstrated to the country that he is a great big man." Referring to a letter he sent to the Tenth district congressional convention last spring, Congressman Crumpacker said: "Everything I prophesied in that letter has been accomplished, but I did not prophesy enough. Much more has been done than I indicated in my letter would be done. All this gives Republicans good reason for elation and encouragement. We are prepared to go to the people for their verdict, and we have no fear as to the finding next November. Republicans will win because they deserve to win."

Thomas Kennedy of New York is dead and Policeman McCormick of the New York police department cannot live, as a result of an auto accident which happened in front of William Rockefeller's property in Tarrytown.

Ten thousand dollars in gold and twice that much in plate, cups, medals and trophies will be posted by the Indianapolis motor speedway in a strenuous effort to attract the score or more of famous American pilots to the great Hoosier course at the September speed carnival.

The Lehigh Valley railroad announced that it is going to restore its old higher passenger rates, which were in effect on that line prior to Oct. 1, 1907. The supreme court of Pennsylvania recently handed down a decision enjoining the enforcement of the two-cent fare law of 1907.

PREPARE FOR THE FALL MEET

Twenty-Four Hours Race for August at Indianapolis Motor Speedway
Is Declared Off.

ALSO ABANDON BALLOON RACE

Making All Preparations for the Big Events on Sept. 2, 3 and 5,
Cash Prizes, $10,000.

The management of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway abandon their idea of holding a twenty-four hour race on August 12th and 13th, as first planned, so that the next event at the famous course will be on the dates of September 2d, 3d and 5th, or the Labor-day meet.

This step was taken on account of the fact that a fatality might mar the twice-around the clock contest, as the long grinds are considered the most dangerous class of events.

In addition to declaring off the twenty-four-hour race, the balloon meet for the 12th has also been abandoned, so that the next contest for the great gas bags will be September 17th, when the National Championships will be run.

There will be no events at the Speedway in August, as every effort will be made to handle the two September events.

The management of the Speedway promises something out of the ordinary for the September date. An effort will be made to secure several of the foreign entries that will take part in the grand prize race in October.

A purse of $2000 will be divided to bring a great many of the free-for-all cars into a great classic event. It is at present intended to make this event for 100 miles or more over the vitrified course with such drivers as Hemery, Nazarro, Wagner and many others in competition with the pick of the American Stars, Robertson, DePalma, Harroun, Aitken, Lytle and other of the speed demons. In case the Speedway Trophy donated by Wheeler & Schebler is not again contested for at the September meet, the management of the Speedway have decided to put a special event on the card for September 3d for the Speedway Gold purse.

This event will also be for cash for cars of 600 inches displacement or less with a minimum weight of 2300 or the same conditions that governed for the Wheeler-Schebler cup. $1000 will be given for first place, $500 for second place and $300 for third place. The Remy Brassard and Prest-O-Lite trophies will finish the big events for the September dates, while several short events with liberal purses will be given during the meet.

It is planned to have the total cash prizes exceed ten thousand dollars, while the trophy, plate and prizes will perhaps exceed three times that value. A special purse will be offered for a record for the short distances up to one mile.

It is also the intention of the Speedway management to try to hold an international Amateur Championship securing the pick of the amateurs of America and Europe.

delegation has twenty-one votes. So that Mr. O'Neil must arrange to get five Shelby county votes in some manner.

Brown claims that he already has all of the Shelby county delegates, according to the Shelbyville press. They say that it is hinted around and would not be surprised if Brown and O'Neil combine, take the nomination for the latter and in case of election, an understanding might be made that Brown is to act as the deputy for O'Neil in Shelby county.

The announcement of Brown as a candidate has made somewhat of a stir in local Democratic circles and there is considerable talk among the party leaders, says the Shelbyville papers. Brown and O'Neil would only need five votes from the Shelby county delegation if they carried the entire Rush county delegation.

EXAMINERS DELVE IN COUNTY BOOKS

Field Men Have Probed Reports of Nearly Every Trustee in 1017

Townships in State.

COVERED SIX-YEAR PERIOD

The accounts of nearly every township trustee in the State have been examined by the field men of the State Board of Accounts and the investigation of county offices has begun. Of the 1017 townships in the State but few remain into which field examiners have not probed. In a majority of the townships the investigation has reached back far enough to cover the six-year period of the statute of limitations, and in some instances the accounts have been examined as far back as ten years to unearth discrepancies responsible for errors in balances.

Thirty teams of two men each, of the 100 field examiners permitted under the law, are at work at the present time. Some of these are at work on city books, especially the accounts of school corporations. Others are at work on the affairs of treasurers, clerks, sheriffs and other county officers, and in the near future the work in this line will be in full progress.

Up to about the first of July the field examiners sent out by W. A. Dehority, chief accountant, have uncovered shortages among the township trustees and in a few cities amounting to $170,092.94.

The wet weather of the past few days has caused the farmers much inconvenience in plowing and reports come from different parts of the county to the effect that the ground is most too soft on which to run a binder.
